NOVEMBER 2019

This Month...

- Taurus Full Moon
- Sagittarius New Moon
- Hong Kong
- 2020 Calendar
- Venus+Jupiter

2019 is almost over and 2020 is about to begin. The looming Saturn-Pluto conjunction in January is set to test many of us, but hopefully Jupiter should help to ease the pain.

Jupiter moves into Capricorn at the start of December.

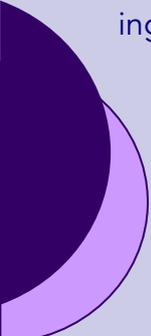

This month Venus and Jupiter will unite in Sagittarius for a relaxed adventure that promises to be enjoyable. This is a great time for celebrating life and having fun.

After October's intense aspects this should be a happier and more relaxed month, although we still have the upcoming Saturn-Pluto alignment to navigate. Powerful alignments like this are more like processes rather than events, as their potency spans months, not days or weeks.

TAURUS FULL MOON

This Taurus Full Moon joins asteroid Vesta, goddess of the hearth. Vesta (Greek Hestia) is the origin of the word 'focus'. The hearth was and is the focal point of the home, the eternal flame that keeps burning, it keeps us warm and safe. Vestal virgins in Rome were highly revered. The symbol of Vesta is a self-contained and pure image.

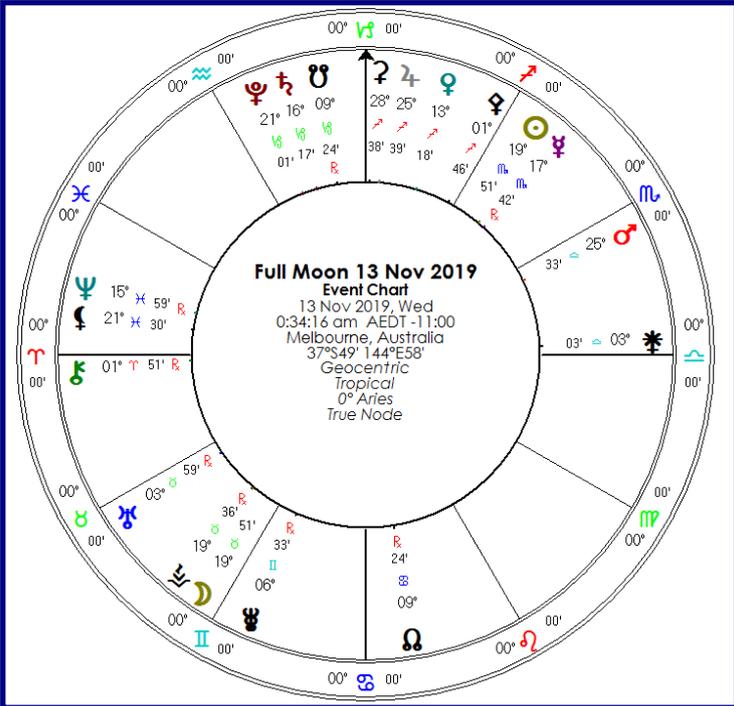

Since Taurus is a sign of material security, home and hearth will be important features of life this month.

Mercury is retrograde, opposing the Moon and Vesta, giving us extra ability to hone in on what we need to attend to, especially around the home.

Details can be overlooked when Mercury is retrograde, but this is usually because we tend to rush. What we need to do when Mercury is retrograde is slow down so we can 'focus' on what requires our attention. Patience is required.

Jupiter and Ceres are still close to one another and this aspect is known for its activism. Ceres is passionate about the environment and Jupiter brings enthusiasm to her passion. This aspect has been active for a couple of months, including during Greta Thunberg's powerful UN speech. It's now waning, having made an exact conjunction on October 26.

Taurus loves nature and as an earth sign, seeks to protect the land. This Full Moon is likely to see more environmental protests around the globe. The fixed earth sign Taurus is resilient and does not give up.

SAGITTARIUS NEW MOON

Venus and Jupiter are shining brightly together in the evening sky. This is a happy aspect, although it's also prone to extravagance. It's good for taking risks, but given some other aspects going on right now, it's probably not a good time to do that.

Mars and Uranus oppose one another, an aspect that can be accident prone. Both planets make an awkward aspect the Sun and Moon, so we may feel a bit out of sorts or uncoordinated.

Accidents often happen when we are scattered and our attention is diverted. Given we have a risk taking, extravagant aspect and an accident prone aspect happening at the same time, it's probably best not to attempt anything new that has a high degree of difficulty. Try to remain conscious of what you are doing and plan your activities carefully. Make sure you are concentrating when behind the wheel.

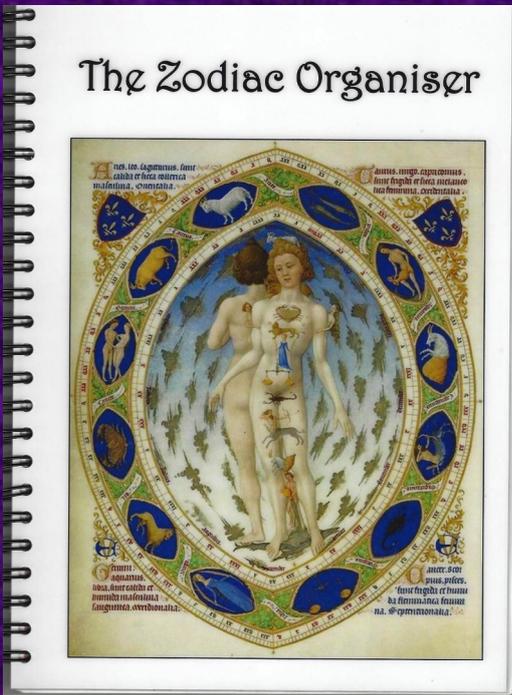

Mars and Uranus are making awkward aspects to Chiron, so health may be impacted by accidents or over indulgence if these planets trigger planets in your natal chart.

Venus squares Chiron, so there could also be some relationship tension that requires healing but the Venus-Mars sextile will help create harmony, providing that we allow one another enough space to do our own thing. This is a great aspect for communication, but as Venus is an evening star and Mars is in the morning sky, we may have very different agendas from our partners.

HONG KONG

Hong Kong was officially handed back to China on 1 July, 1997. The recent unrest in Hong Kong is associated with growing pains. The people of Hong Kong are seeking more independence from China. The main transits that are happening that define these protests are the waxing Uranus square and the waning Saturn square that take place after 21 years have elapsed. Protests first began in March 2019 with the first hit of the Saturn square. Hong Kong gets three hits of each transit. (see transit list)

The age of 21 is a major intersection when Saturn squares Saturn and Uranus squares Uranus. On a personal level, this is when individuals seek freedom from their parents (Uranus) and often make key decisions about their future (Saturn). The same themes apply to any entity, including countries. These aspects symbolise China's crackdown and Hong Kong's rebellion.

There are other powerful transits underway to the Hong Kong handover chart that will continue to unfold throughout the coming year and beyond. This battle for autonomy could continue until early 2021 when Jupiter will hit Uranus and the third Uranus square takes place. Note too that transiting Saturn will be conjunct Hong Kong's Uranus at that time, in early 2021.
