FEBRUARY 2020

We've seen the devastation of the bushfires across Australia and the impact on our communities, flora and fauna. January's Saturn-Pluto-Ceres conjunction has touched us all and we are grieving for what has been lost.

What has begun to germinate as a result of these horrific scenes, is a powerful reminder of our connection to nature and how important it is for us all. The grief we have all felt has created a groundswell of anger directed towards our Prime Minister, who is out of touch with the reality of climate change even in the face of this catastrophe. Others who were sceptical, have awakened that this is a real global emergency, with help from Uranus as it stationed direct.

This month, Venus, Black Moon and Chiron unite in Aries, revealing our emotional wounds and providing opportunities for healing with expressions of love. Mercury will retrograde in Pisces, giving us pause to look deeper within and connect with our feelings.

This month's feature examines the power of stationary planets...

LEO FULL MOON

This Leo Full Moon provides an opportunity to regroup and heal.

Black Moon, Venus and Chiron are tied together in early Aries, so our emotional wellbeing is where our attention is focused.

For many people, Chiron's ingress into Aries a couple of years ago was the start of a difficult time. The past couple of years have been a transitional period where we have had to pay more attention to our personal wellbeing.

This Black Moon, Chiron, Venus alignment suggests that we are turning a corner. Conjunctions mark the end of one cycle and the start of another, so this Full Moon brings a sense of conclusion to some of these problems and makes a fresh start possible.

Relationship healing is also a main feature of this Full Moon. There is the potential to feel ostracised or victimised with this pattern, so choose your friends and partners wisely. Look within and re-engage with your personal standards and values and with those who share them.

Meanwhile, Jupiter is swiftly catching up to Saturn and Pluto, so there are still many global challenges making their presence felt. Jupiter will provide some respite and help us cope at a personal level.

The world is rapidly changing and so too are our personal lives.

PISCES NEW MOON

Mercury stations retrograde on the 17th for the first of its three retrosojourns this year.

2020 brings these retrogrades to water signs, which suggests that we need to be more aware of our emotional connections and get in touch with the feeling side of life.

There is an exact sextile from this New Moon to Mars in Capricorn, so there is likely to be a lot of activity going on around us. Uranus is also sextile the New Moon and hence trine to Mars, ramping up activity even more.

The traditional ruler of Pisces, Jupiter, and its modern ruler Neptune are 60 degrees apart. This is a congenial aspect that stimulates creativity and imagination. Sextile aspects enhance communication, so this is a good time to share your dreams and aspirations with others.

Just about every planet and main asteroid is contained within 180 degrees with the exception of asteroid Juno which is opposing love goddess, Venus.

Juno (Hera) was the wife of Jupiter (Zeus) and she was known for her loyalty and commitment to her marriage, despite her husband's infidelity. Juno's opposition to Venus suggests that relationships tension and jealousy could come to the surface now.

STATIONARY PLANETS

From time to time all planets (except the Sun and Moon) appear to stop and backtrack through the zodiac before stopping and returning to direct motion. Retrograde motion is only apparent from our perspective on Earth, so this phenomenon has a lot to do with how we see things.

Stationary planets have immense potency. Neither good nor bad, they are however very strong. The challenge is to harness their power.

For some of us, a natal stationary planet will prove to be an insurmountable obstacle, yet for others it will be an immense asset. Either way, they require effort to get the best from them, especially personal planets, Mercury, Venus and Mars.

One chart in particular comes to mind with a HUGE number of stationary planets and asteroids, that is the chart of Donald Trump.

His chart has Neptune, Juno, Chiron and Jupiter all stationing direct and Ceres stationary retrograde. This large number of stationary planets adds layers of complexity to his personality.

Three stationary planets are seen in the chart of another complex individual, author of Mary Poppins, Pamela Travers. She was born on 9 August 1899 in Maryborough, Victoria. Her chart has Uranus, Chiron and Juno stationary direct.

As for transiting stations, pay attention to what area they trigger in your chart. If they hit a personal planet or angle, they can be highly significant. If you have a stationary natal planet, also note when outer planets transit those degrees.

Oscar Pistorius has Mercury and Venus stationary direct at 13 and 5 degrees of Scorpio, they sit either side of his Pluto at 8 Scorpio. He shot and killed his girlfriend Reeva Steenkamp on February 14, 2013, when transiting Saturn was stationary at 11 Scorpio.

Of course not all stations are traumatic or negative. They can be incredible opportunities and assets. It's up to us to learn to harness their power and use it in the best possible way.
