APRIL 2020 - SPECIAL EDITION

Never before has the world been connected like this. This could be one eventual positive outcome from of this horrific pandemic, more empathy and understanding. January's Saturn-Pluto conjunction symbolises the fear (Saturn) of death (Pluto) that we are all experiencing with the Coronavirus pandemic. The downturn in the economy and the impact across the globe, personally, socially and politically is unprecedented.

April kicks off with a Mars-Saturn conjunction with tightening restrictions, but at the very gateway to Aquarius it offers a glimmer of hope. There is a lot of emphasis building around the sign of the water-bearer. Many of the changes that are sweeping across the world now are going result in permanent changes in the way we do things.

This virus is bad for people, bad for the economy, awful in so many ways, but it's good for the environment. The reduction in pollution we are seeing will have a beneficial effect on climate change too. Wars and fighting could also cease as we face a common enemy. So much is changing...please stay home and stay safe.

LIBRA SUPERMOON

This is a Full Supermoon, and the biggest Supermoon of 2020. The Moon will appear much larger than usual and king tides will occur.

The additional gravitational forces on the Earth from Supermoons like this can increase volcanic and seismic activity in sensitive regions of the globe.

This lunation makes a wide square to a very tight conjunction of Jupiter and Pluto which are in sextile aspect with Mercury. Jupiter-Pluto aspects are known for fiscal spending, which is consistent with the stimulus packages being rolled out everywhere in response to the unprecedented economic downturn.

As Libra is the sign of relationships and Juno (Jupiter's wife) was keenly focused on her partnership, this is an ideal time to invest energy and time into your relationship.

Sometimes we can take loved ones for granted, but this is not one of those times.

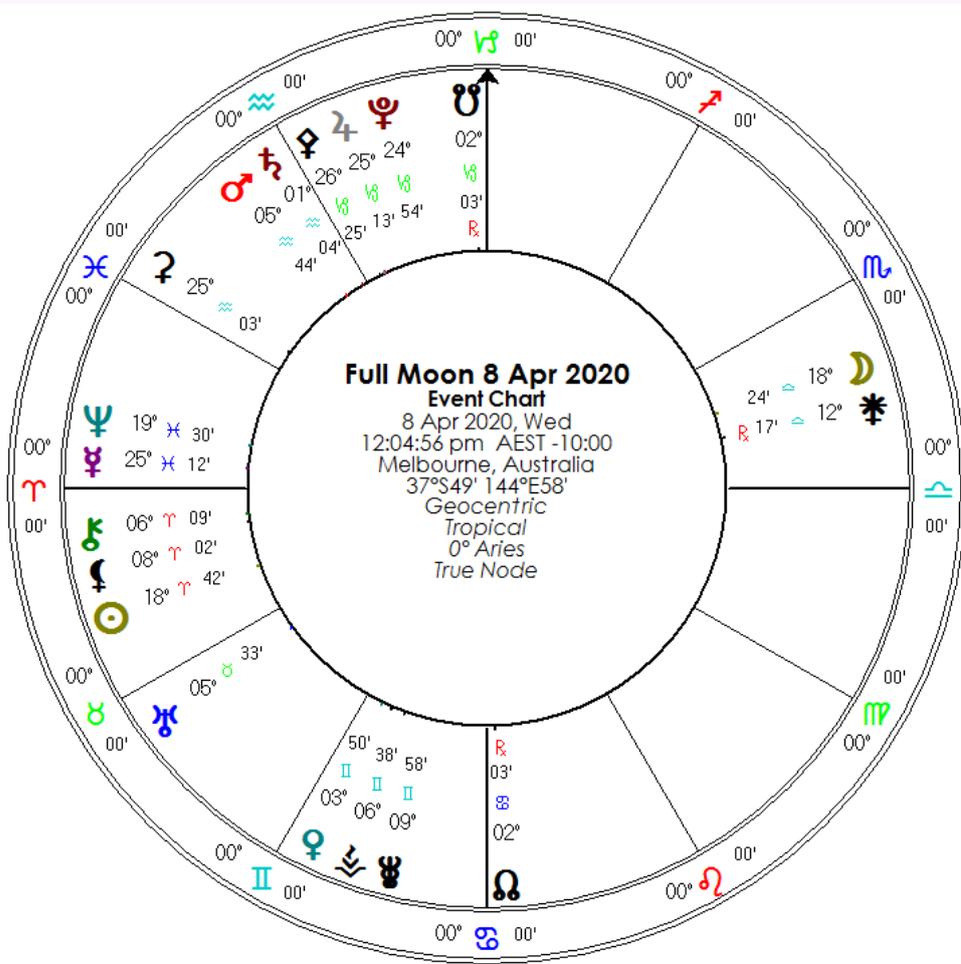

Given the current state of the world, this Full Moon may also bring additional tension and finger pointing; the old blame game.

Saturn now in Aquarius has erected new social barriers but at the same time, the world is connected like never before.

Chiron and the Black Moon are close allies in Aries, symbolising the isolation we are feeling.

My advice is to stay home as much as possible and only go out for essentials.

We live in extraordinary times.

TAURUS NEW MOON

Innovative Uranus moved into earthy Taurus a year or two back and this New Moon sits within a few degrees of the maverick planet, raising insight a notch or two. Over its seven year transit, Uranus in Taurus will provide a positive boost for green technology.

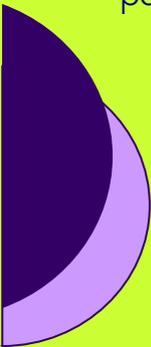

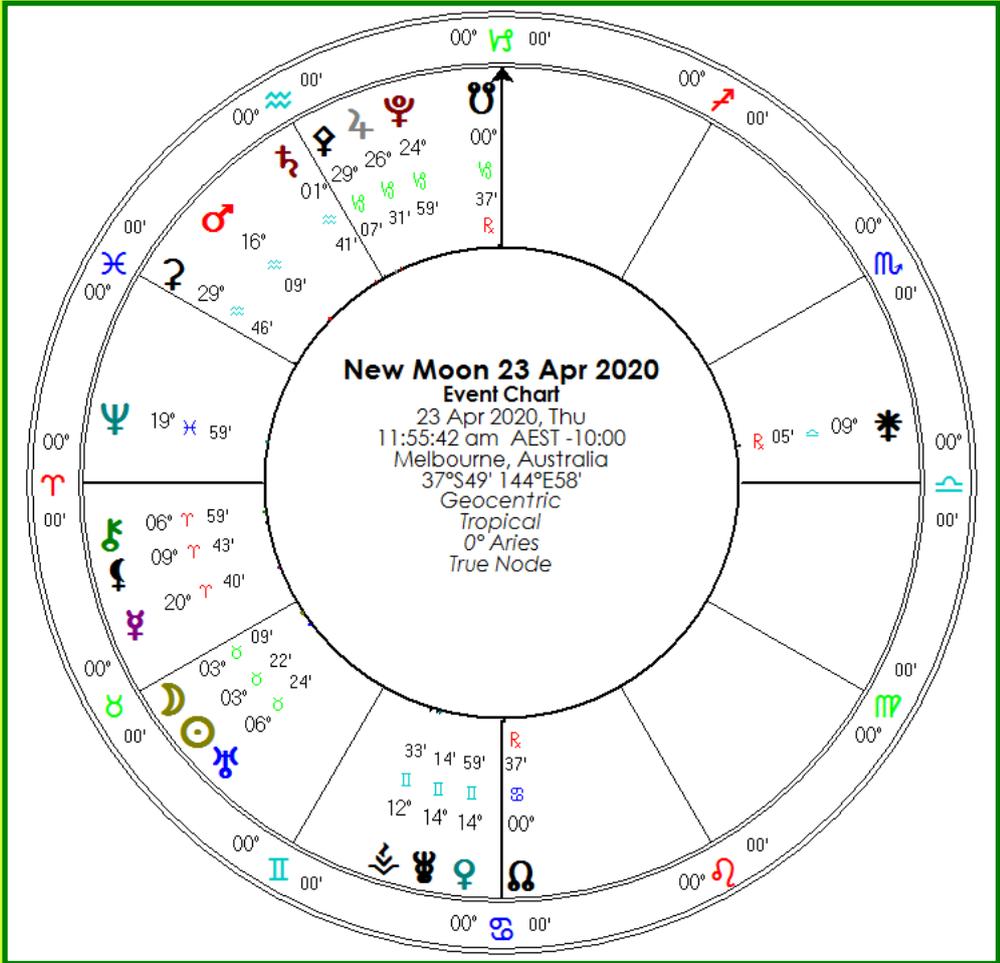

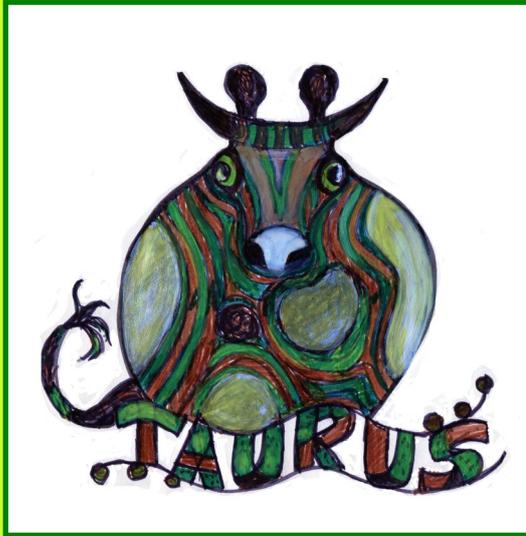

One of the few positives of the coronavirus, is that the slow down in human activity is helping heal the planet. Dolphins are swimming in the canals in Venice, and there is a huge reduction in air pollution with international flights grounded and less traffic on the roads. We may soon stop producing petroleum and begin to develop hydrogen vehicles.

The Nodal Axis is about to shift into mutable signs Sagittarius and Gemini, but at this New Moon they sit at 0 degrees Cardinal, a powerful signal for re-ordering our world.

We still have an emphasis on personal relationships at this New Moon with Juno now the only body in a separate hemisphere, and in Libra to boot. While we are all bunkered down, many are sharing more time with one another. Depending on our living arrangements, some relationships will be going smoothly, while the close proximity is also magnifying our differences.

Juno (Hera) put up with a lot from Jupiter (Zeus) to preserve their partnership, and for the time being, we all may have to follow suit.

COVID-19 AND SATURN-PLUTO

Mundane (world) astrology examines global cycles, specifically the cycles of the slow outer planets.

Saturn Pluto aspects are associated with hardship and fear. The last time they were opposing one another was 2001 and we all know how fear gripped the world then and curtailed activity. Saturn and Pluto were together in Capricorn in January this year along with Ceres (earth goddess) and we saw the horrific fires sweep across Australia, and if that was not bad enough, we are confronted by this global pandemic, with all its implications, for health, and the long term economic impact that is altering the way we live.

The chart for the WHO declaration of this pandemic has Neptune and the Sun in Pisces. Neptune does not discriminate. There is a T-Square linking Saturn, Pluto, Jupiter, Mars and Athena to the Moon and Juno in Libra and slow moving Eris, goddess of strife and discord in Aries.

Named for the goddess of hygiene, Hygeia the fifth largest asteroid, appropriately sits on the Midheaven in social air sign Gemini, surveying all below and communicating her guiding message.

People have asked me when will all this be over? This is a difficult question to answer for a number of reasons. Firstly, outer planets move slowly and they represent processes that take time to unfold. Secondly, since this the whole globe is affected, some people and communities are going to be impacted more than others, plus the opinions and actions of our leaders varies. I can pinpoint a couple of key dates in the short term that offer clues to the coming few months.

April 1st Jupiter-Pluto conjunction should help to boost finances with help from governments. This aspect is about spending money, which is needed to weather this storm. Mars-Saturn conjunction at 0 Aquarius, tightens social restrictions and suggests new information coming forward plus a boost for research.

Mid May Venus stations retrograde in Gemini and squares Neptune so additional social isolation measures are likely. Venus retrograde is often a time of when we retreat from others to re-evaluate our priorities, but this one will be different. More about this next month...

Astrology is a universal and symbolic language and as astrologer Rick Levine so wisely points out in his recent video here, fate is what happens to us, but free-will is how we respond to events.

After this pandemic passes the long term outlook sees powerful Aquarian influences on the horizon that propel us forward into world that will be like living on an entirely different planet. So much is changing.

It was timely that last year I wrote about Pluto in Aquarius (2023-44) for the AstroVision EBook and how this coming epoch and extra Aquarian influences will totally alter our way of life. I had no idea that it would be a global pandemic that would be the catalyst for these changes. But here we are.
