Time marches along. The Equinox rolls around again bringing the opportunity to rebalance and set new targets.

March is named for Mars the Roman god of war, the ruling planet of Aries, where the Sun is located at the March Equinox as a new season begins.

pisces new moon

This New Moon is all about connections.

Venus and Neptune join the Sun and Moon in the mutable water sign Pisces.

The sign of the fishes is full of imagination and romance, and the addition of Neptune and Venus amplifies the feeling of mystery and magic.

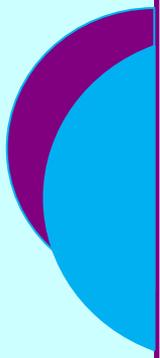

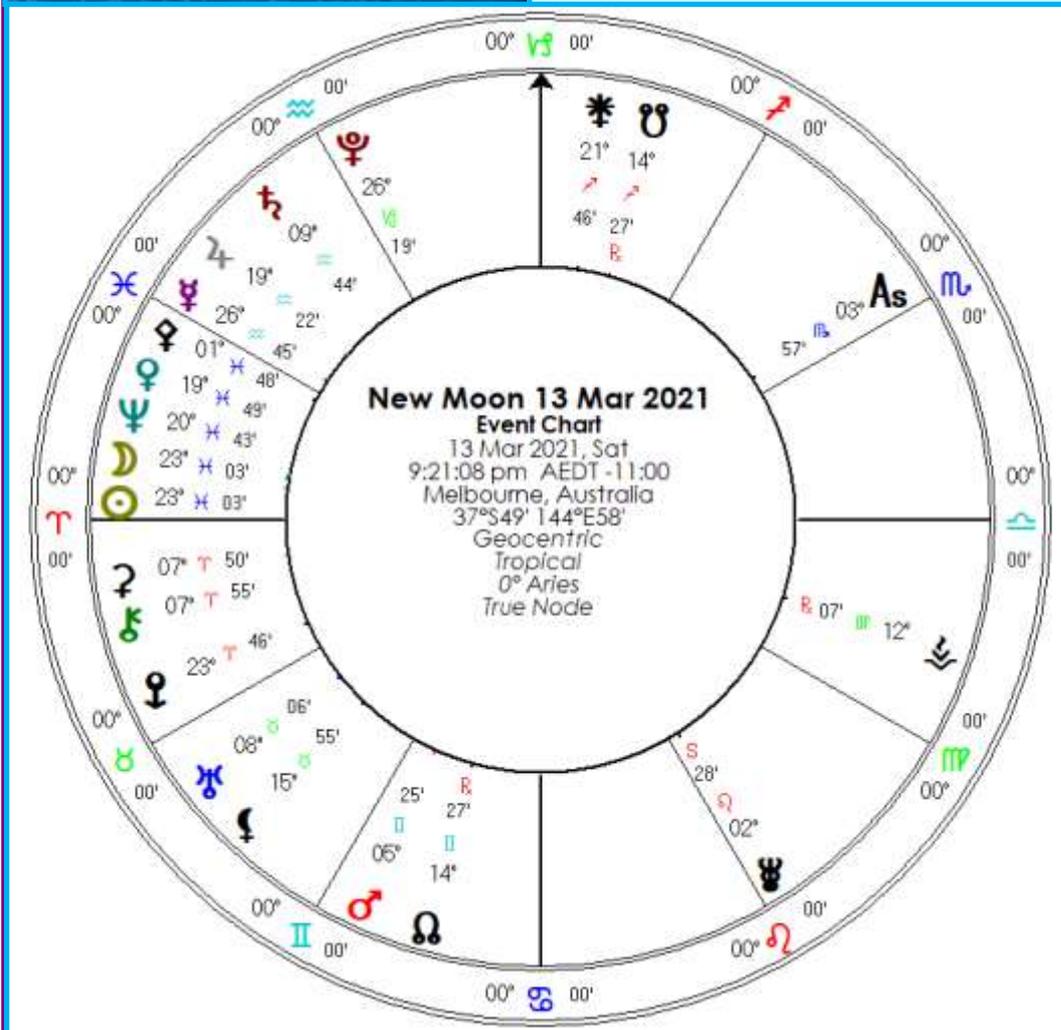

Mutable water is flowing and full of movement. Possibilities are endless as the imagination knows no bounds. This is a wonderful New Moon for inspiration, art, love and romance.

Chiron and Ceres are in a tight conjunction now which suggests that healing the environment will be a key feature at this time.

Connecting with nature and animals is so important for our spiritual wellbeing and health. When the environment is suffering we too suffer.

Despite the overall ambience of this lunation, Saturn and Uranus are both now semi-square the Sun and Moon, amplifying their square aspect. This is likely to ramp up the tension level and could stir up political angst as we try to decide which path to follow, the traditional approach or a new experimental model.

Not all watery symbols are peaceful, large storm clouds and waves can appear at any time.

Libra Full Moon

This Libra Full Moon activates Chiron and Venus which are in tight conjunctions with the Sun. Venus reaches her superior conjunction now at her furthest distance from Earth. There is a tight semi-sextile from these three planets to Uranus which in turn is quincunx the Moon.

All this points towards an adjustment in our activities that requires a sacrifice. It suggests that we need to adopt an attitude that is more conscious of others and the wider community.

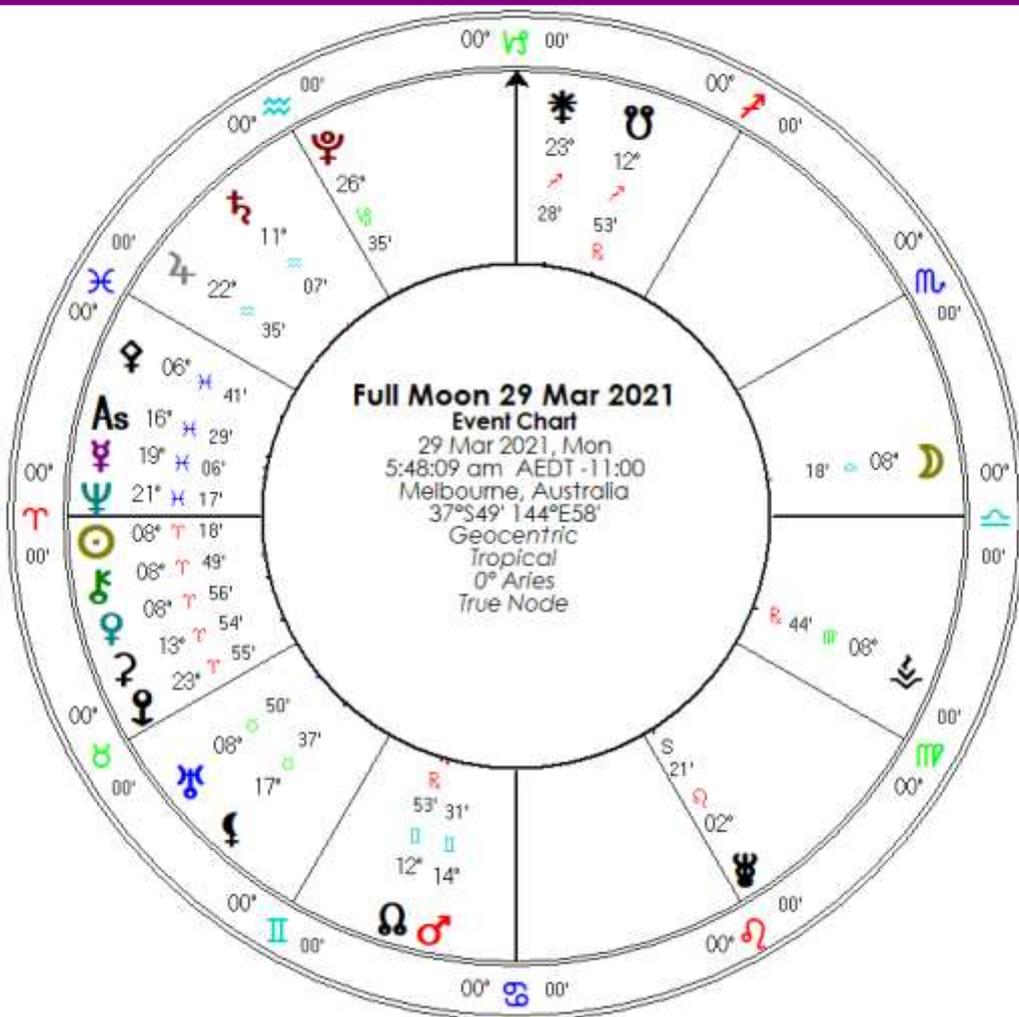

Chiron commences a new synodic cycle and brings more awareness to matters of health and healing. Given the ongoing COVID situation this suggests a potential turning point in this struggle with more vaccines being delivered. With Venus also here, relationship healing is also on the agenda.

The North Node and Mars unite in Gemini, urging us to engage socially with others. There could also be some temper tantrums or angry outbursts.

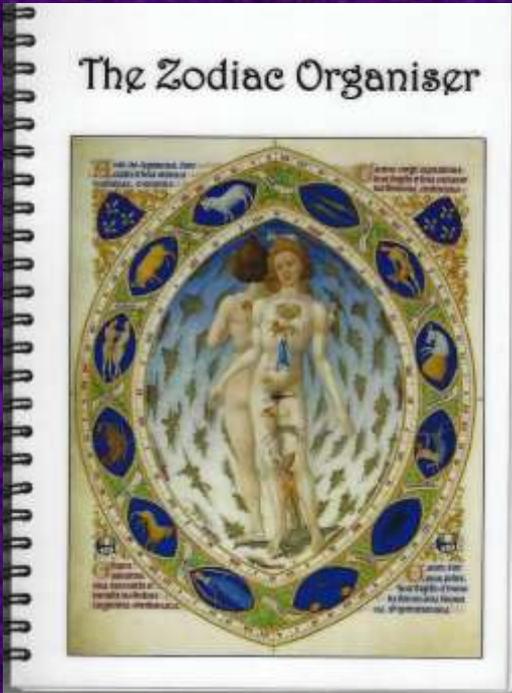

But with Mercury joining Neptune in Pisces communication will be compassionate for the most part. This will also stir our creativity and imagination.

Allow dreams to take you to new places. Escape from pain and suffering through nature, art and creativity.

Each Equinox provides a symbolic picture of the coming three months. As Mars rules Aries, the red planet offers clues as to the likely manifestation each March.

Mars and Mercury are involved in a mutable square. This can be a verbally aggressive and hostile combination. One where we can allow our frustration to take over our communication. With Mars in close proximity to the North Node and the Moon, sudden emotional outbursts are possible.

The tight sextile between the Sun and Mars suggests that these rants will be short lived. Direct and to the point, Mars in Gemini is spontaneous and quick witted, but can also be argumentative.

Asteroid Hygiea will turn direct in two days, highlighting the ongoing importance of health and hygiene. A new approach may be called for.

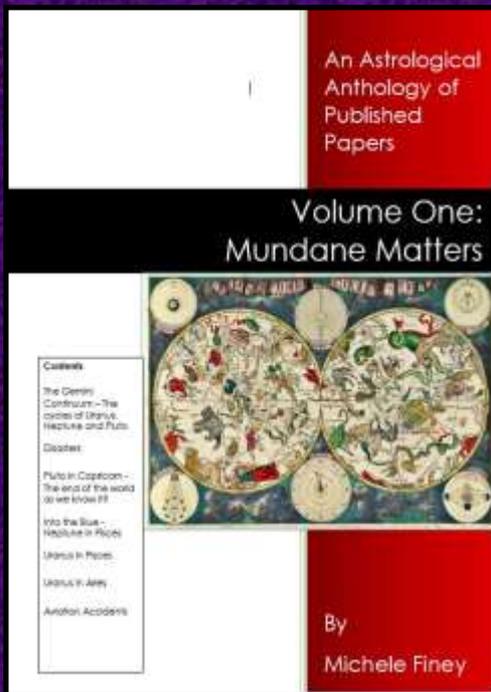

Saturn square Uranus is still very much in play. Tension and stress are a big part of our lives as this global pandemic continues to impact us all in one way or another. The global situation amplifies our daily challenges as we try to set goals and create a better future.

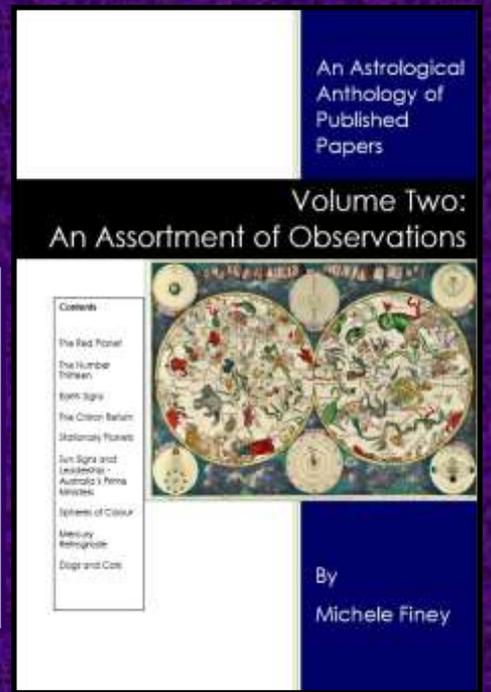

While our individual circumstances differ it is important to find joy in small things that support us each day. Mars in Gemini can become angry about trivial matters and small annoyances, so try to instead focus on the positives.

This is a good opportunity to get active in both body and mind. Use the energy this Equinox to tackle any task requiring detailed focus.
