Cancer new Moon

This 10 July New Moon widely opposes Pluto, raising one or two possible concerns as we move through this central part of the year. There continues to be a sense of grief across communities and for anyone personally effected more resilience and tenacity are required.

lossal amount of creative energy. Leo, where the conjunction is taking place, is itself a highly passionate and creative sign.

through sharing our pain and exposing vulnerable emotions.

New and long lasting personal relationships can be established under the energy of this intense New Moon. Pluto's involvement also signals a possible breakthrough in cutting through any trepidation.

Juno, goddess of marriage sits close to the South Node suggesting that connections established now are intrinsically powerful and may have a sense of being fated which may be related to a past life connection.

Deep unions may come about

Family relationships continue to be in focus now too.

Even so, there are a number of bounce-back aspects in play.

This New Moon is happening just a few days away from a Venus-Mars conjunction that will have some input into this lunation.

Venus-Mars aspects, especially the conjunction, are highly passionate and intense. They generate a co-

Charts in the News The National (Country) Party

The National Party (formerly the Country Party) was established in January 1920. They recently re-elected senator Barnaby Joyce as their leader.

The Sun in this chart is located at 0 Aquarius and this degree area is being impacted by a range of past and future transits. The Saturn-Jupiter conjunction of late 2020 was the first with more to come.

It will be interesting to see how this plays out over coming months with a Federal election likely to take place in 2022 when a new and dynamic Venus-Mars conjunction takes place at that exact degree. Pluto will cross the threshold into Aquarius in 2023. At that time T Uranus will cross the Nodal Axis, suggesting a fundamental shift and change in its identity.

see unfold throughout 2022 and beyond.

Mercury opposes Pluto so we may not be ready to take on board the implications of the trends that are beginning to emerge.

The Moon is a just handful of degrees away from powerhouse Pluto in the last stages of his sojourn in Capricorn. Next year Pluto will transition into Aquarius, so this Full Moon may reveal something about the upcoming trends we will Pluto in Aquarius is a very different paradigm and there is every indication that massive changes are in store for all of us as we glimpse and confront the years ahead.

Juno is the wife of Jupiter and is known for her unwavering support of her husband despite his unfaithfulness. But she was also known to take out her vengeance against her husbands lovers. This Full Moon may give rise to feelings of resentment. This is not to say that we need to behave like a veritable Juno, but the loyalty she is known

Venus and mars

Every so often Venus and Mars renew their cosmic vows. But their unions through time have no regular sequence. It's only when you examine their conjunctions every 32 years that a pattern emerges. These conjunctions every 32 years step along the zodiac by a few degrees, some retrograde, and some direct.

This month we have a Venus-Mars conjunction at 19LE48. This is an evening star conjunction, which tells us that this cycle is in its waning period. If you trace this series back to its origin, you will find that it began in the year 1093 at 10AR32.

My research into this cycle suggests that the original conjunction in a series appears to resonate with the Sabian Symbol for that degree. The symbol for 11 Aries is A leader of a Nation. This conjunction in Leo is also suggestive of leadership matters as Leo is a sign we know is associated with that theme. Leadership matters will be in the news.

AFL great Dustin Martin was born with a very tight Venus-Mars conjunction in Leo. I included his chart a couple of months ago, but wanted to look at it again in light this month's Venus-Mars conjunction which is located just one degree away from his natal Venus-Mars!

His birth chart shows Jupiter close to Venus and Mars and Pluto is square the conjunction.

I hope that the intensity of this transit does not result in a burnt out fuse or injury. There is so much electricity and energy pulsing through him now it will be hard to contain. It's good he has a level head and practises meditation.

Dusty has just had his 30th birthday and Saturn Return.
