Covid-19 continues to spread around the globe and new strains are popping up all the time. My best guess is that this pandemic will subside early next year, but I am no expert in these matters. I'm just looking at some of the positive aspects that are due to start in February 2022 that will usher in a highly creative and uplifting vibration.

I hope I am right.

Leo new Moon

Fixed Fire sign Leo is associated with the power of the Sun. This Leo New Moon highlights the intensity associated with our star as the centre of our solar system.

North West in the US and Canada. This is because of climate change and it's scary. We've also seen the recent floods in Germany and in China and India. Of course here in the southern hemisphere it's the coldest month, which is associated with opposite sign Aquarius.

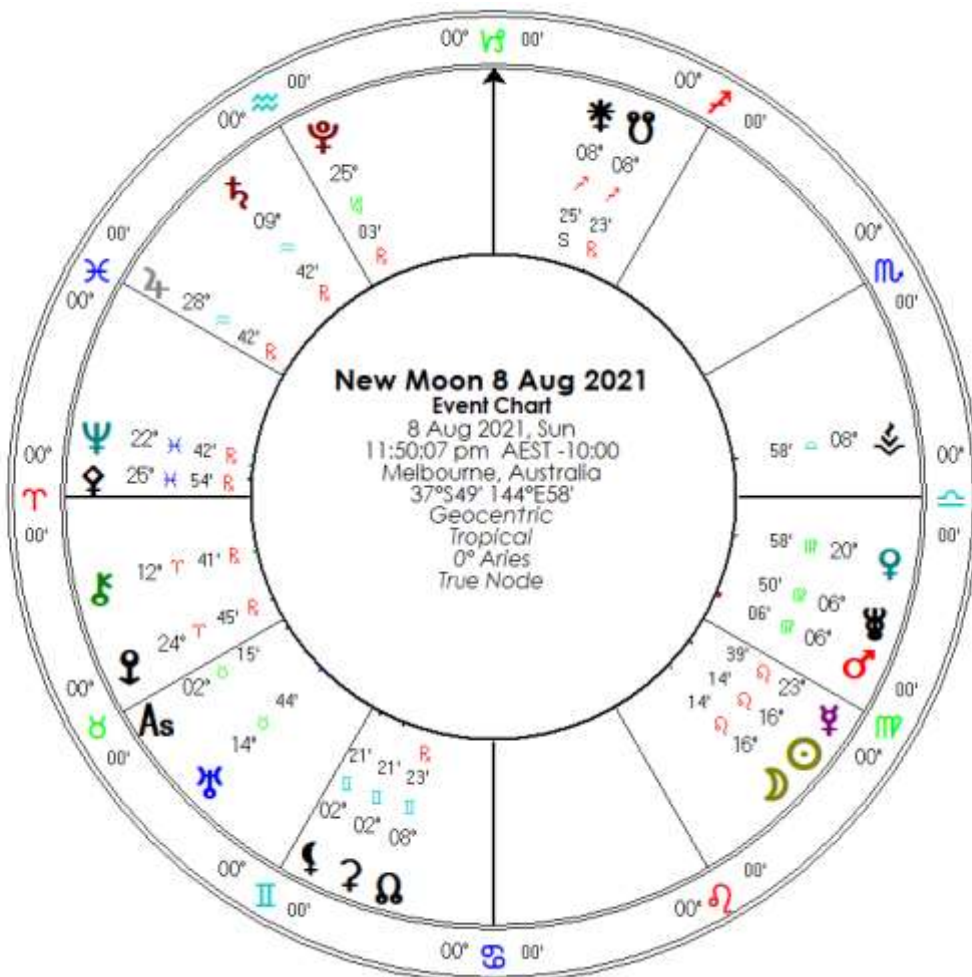

where neither party is willing to give ground, but Uranus is also unpredictable and lends itself to sudden reversals and changes.

At the same time this is a powerful aspect for staying the course, for endurance, stamina and resilience, but it can also be rather belligerent too.

Uranus now squares the Sun and Moon. Fixed squares like this can lead to entrenched stalemates

With stationary Juno close to the South Node our loyalties may determine whether we opt for change, or to stay on track.

Staying positive can be difficult when there are so many problems and conflicting advice, nevertheless finding a creative outlet can help to focus the mind. This is a good time to do that.

Charts in the News Britney Spears (Rating A)

Inner Wheel: Britney Spears 2/12/1981, 1.30am, McComb Mississippi

Outer Wheel: Solar Return Age 40, December 2021.

As Britney Spears tries to regain control of her life and her finances, we see transiting Pluto has been crossing over her Venus and her South Node.

This transit is almost at an end so we can conclude that this test will hopefully soon be resolved. Pluto will station direct on 5 October in between the Node and Venus, and will cross her Venus for the last time. The last hit of Pluto to her Venus will be on her 40th birthday! They say that life begins at 40, and for Britney this could be a literal resurrection and rebirth. Venus will station retrograde in December when conjunct T Pluto and Natal Venus too. This is also part of her midlife Pluto square Pluto transit, and also T Neptune square Neptune. These are mammoth mid-life transits, compounded by the involvement of Venus. She is also having Saturn cross her Moon. There is a lot going on and these are very stressful transits.

She is also about to have her South Node cross Uranus (freedom) so I anticipate a positive outcome for her by the end of this year.

Aquarius Full Moon

K

This is the second Aquarius Full Moon in succession. Last month we had one at the start of Aquarius, while this one is in the last degree of the fixed air sign.

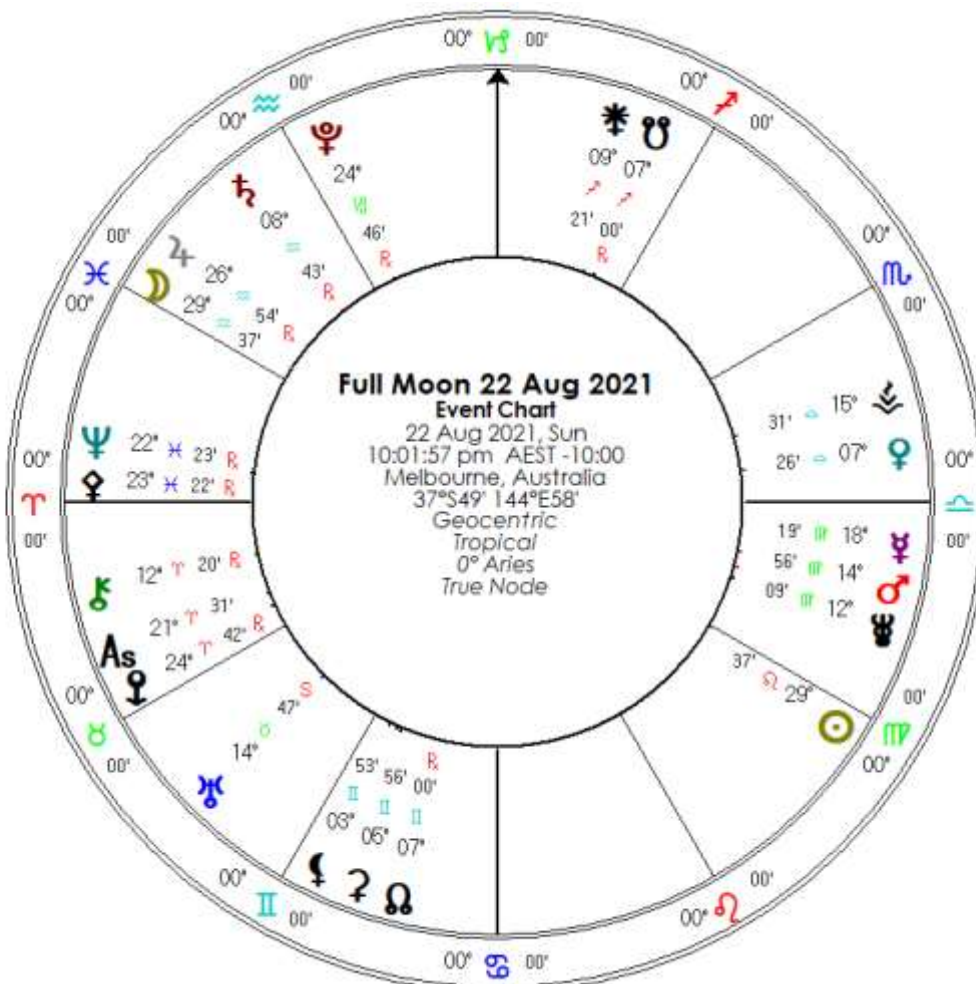

Moon-Jupiter conjunctions are comfortable and boost confidence levels. This aspect provides secure feelings and a positive outlook as we look forward to the coming season.

Intuition and creativity are heightened. This is especially the case as Mars and Mercury are in a trine with Uranus. This activates creative thinking and given that this is happening in the earth element, it's the sort of aspect that can generate real tangible and practical outcomes.

The Moon is close to Jupiter so if you look skyward at this Full Moon on the evening of 22 August, you will spot Jupiter nearby.

Uranus stations retrograde a couple of days before this Full Moon. SR Uranus can emphasise the eccentric nature of Uranus and suggests looking within for inspiration. With the Sun and Moon in the last degrees of Leo and Aquarius respectively, this Full Moon underscores the fact that we should be looking ahead, and trying not to repeat past mistakes, but learning from them. This is helped along by the Sun which is about to enter sensible Virgo.

Opposition aspects

Conjunctions, squares and oppositions are the three most intense aspects we encounter. Squares are the most challenging, but oppositions can be just as tricky. Much depends on the actual planets involved. Some oppositions are easier than others.

Whether in our birth chart, or experienced as a transit, oppositions are formed between two planets with complementary elements, the same polarity, and the same quality.

Having the same quality makes for the inherent challenge. Opposing signs tend to compete with one another as they in many ways quite similar. Squares too have the same quality, cardinal, fixed or mutable, but have additional challenges.

Oppositions involving two cardinal signs; Aries-Libra and Cancer-Capricorn, tend to create issues associated with decision making between two possible options. Leadership issues and matters of work-home balance can crop up.

Fixed oppositions, Taurus-Scorpio and Leo-Aquarius tend to create stalemate situations where neither side is willing to give ground or compromise.

Mutable oppositions, Gemini-Sagittarius and Virgo-Pisces tend to jump around a bit so that just when we think we know what to do, another alternative presents itself. Mutable oppositions can create confusion. I describe these as Cardinal Conflicts, Fixed Feuds and Mutable Misunderstandings which encapsulates the tension and issues that often happen up with oppositions (and squares).

This month we have a number of oppositions in play. On 10 August Venus in Virgo opposes Neptune in Pisces. This can generate some confusing signals in terms of relationships. Watch for mixed messages and the possibility of being scammed or duped.

The following day on August 11 Mercury in Leo opposes Jupiter in Aquarius. This aspect can create disagreements between those focused on the big picture and others who are more concerned with the fine print and details. Mercury and Jupiter are natural opposites as they are associated with opposing signs.

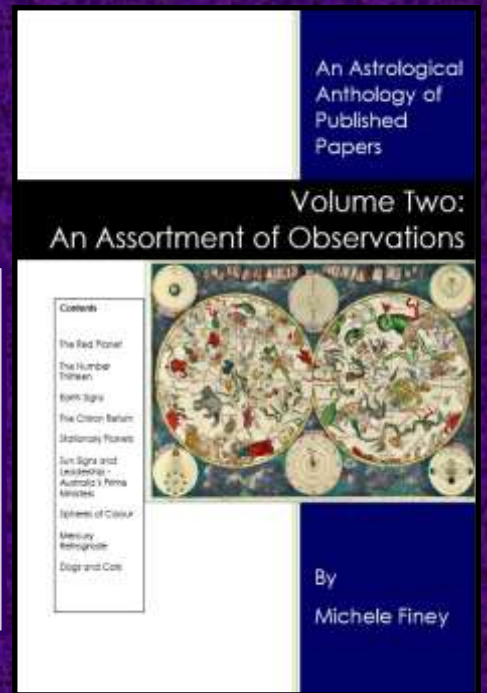

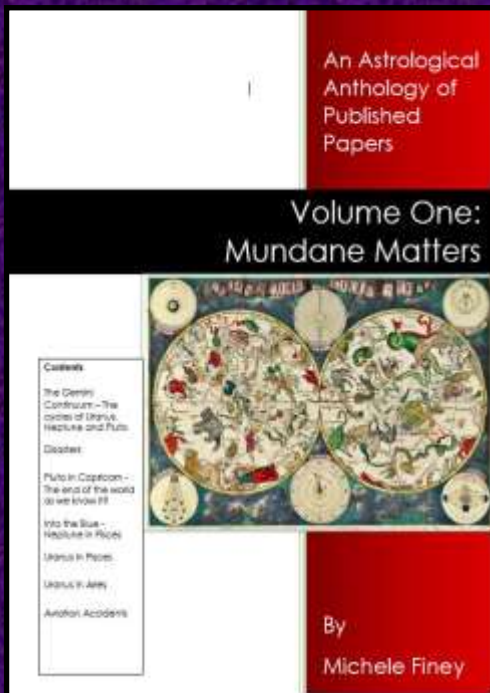

Later in the month Mercury in Virgo opposes Neptune in Pisces. These are natural opposites too, so mixed messages are again apt to cause confusion and misunderstandings.

Venus in Libra opposes Chiron in Aries late this month too, and the Sun will oppose Jupiter when the gas giant makes its closest approach to the Earth.

Try to see things from both sides before making any key decisions this month.
