taurus | lunar eclipse

This is a powerful total lunar eclipse. Not only does it involve the Sun and Moon, but Mercury is at superior conjunction at the same degree as the Sun, while maverick Uranus is tightly conjunct the Moon.

the solar system. Its axis of rotation is tilted at 98 degrees, and it has a massive corkscrew magnetic field. Being so powerfully aligned, with this 8 November lunar eclipse amplifies the potential for wild and unpredictable events. Note that this is also the day of the mid-term elections in the US.

as volatile when Venus engages in a yod with Mars and Pluto. Mercury and the Sun will follow suit, making for an uncomfortable time when we are flung out of our comfort zone.

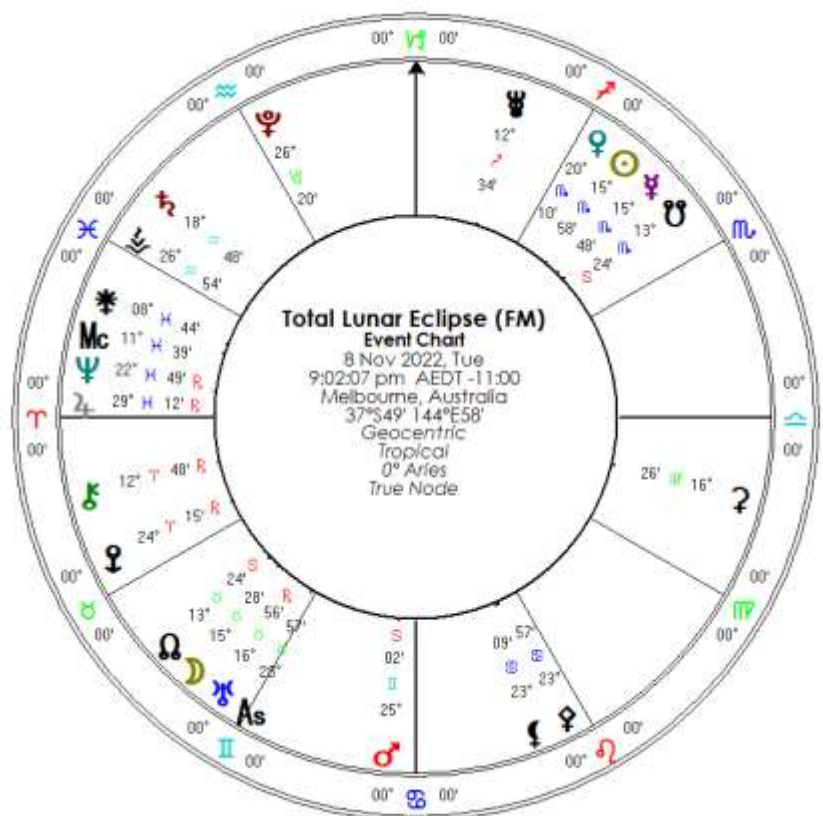

Full Moons elevate emotional responses. Uranus symbolises radical extremes, and its proximity to the Nodal axis creates an entrenched feeling of determination but at the same time a radical free-for-all. Be prepared for anything.

This eclipse is located at 15 degrees of fixed signs, mid-way between the Equinox and the coming December Solstice, adding extra potency to this intense eclipse.

Mars and Pluto, co-rulers of Scorpio are forming an uncomfortable quincunx. With Mars barely moving and out of bounds, the days after this Full Moon could be just Uranus is making its closest approach to the Earth and its aspects to the Nodal Axis, the Moon, Venus and Mercury foreshadow a sudden jolt, shift or change.

This 32-page astrology calendar is suitable for those who are new to astrology, students of astrology and the professional astrologer.

It includes an introductory section on astrology basics that explains the meaning of planets and signs. An easy reference guide, it examines prevailing astrological conditions and suggests ways to take advantage of opportunities as they arise. For professional astrologers this calendar replaces the need to constantly refer to your ephemeris. It provides easy access to relevant astrological data for general daily use. It also includes planetary information that is not found in ephemerides, such as lunar perigees, Supermoons, key positions of Venus and more.

CHARTS IN THE NEWS

Victorian Premier, Daniel Andrews has come in for a lot of criticism for his handling of the COVID crisis. His support has been waning, but in recent opinion polls he is still more popular than the opposition leader Matthew Guy.

With no known time of birth available, I have used 12 noon for both leaders' charts (below).

Daniel Andrews has a tight cardinal T-square involving the Sun, Uranus, Eris and Chiron. This year he turned 50 so he is in the midst of his Chiron return which is re-activating this tight aspect.

With transiting Chiron squaring his Sun on and off this year, you might recall he had a nasty fall a while ago which involved a long recovery. Chiron is still having an impact and will continue to do so for a while yet. Chiron is not just about physical wounding, but about coming to terms with our emotional wounds.

Meanwhile, transiting Pluto is sitting on his North Node, with transiting Pallas Athena sitting on his South Node. This is a highly fated and dynamic time for him. Pluto and the Nodal Axis both speak to the karmic nature of events that are well beyond our personal control. Pluto transits are slow to unfold. This pattern has tested his capacity to lead the state through major life-altering events such as the covid crisis and now the floods that have been sweeping across large regions of Victoria.

Because we don't have his time of birth, we can't be sure of the exact position of his Moon, other than it's in stubborn Taurus. If he was born later in the day than 12 noon, the transiting North Node and/or transiting Uranus could be triggering his Moon too. He also has transiting Mars crossing his Venus.

There are a great many tough transits in play as he faces this month's state election. If I were him I wouldn't be taking anything for granted.

Matthew Guy's noon chart has the Sun in Pisces and the Moon in Leo. Depending on his time of birth, the transiting North Node and transiting Uranus could be squaring his Moon. If he was born later in the day, transiting Saturn might be opposing his Moon. But none of this is certain as we don't have a time of birth.

If he was born around noon, then these are active transits that can be emotionally stressful, suggesting that he would rather be doing something else.

He has a Mars-Neptune opposition in his birth chart, and the transiting Sun, Venus and Mercury are bringing short-term activation of this aspect at the election. Compared to the tough transits that Daniel Andrews is having, there is really not that much to see here, though it's difficult to be certain without his time of birth.

With the major flood crisis here in Victoria, Premier Dan Andrews has had to step up once again to manage a situation beyond anyone's control. On Page 8 there's more on the State election including the chart for Victoria...

Sagittarius new moon

Sagittarius is known for its exuberance and enthusiasm. It's eternally optimistic and extroverted.

Its ruling planet is Jupiter which harbours the same larger than life energy.

doubt that luck is on our side, but is it?

Meanwhile, Ceres in Virgo opposes Neptune, forming a mutable grand cross with Mars in Gemini and Hygiea. Mutable signs are incredibly versatile and adaptable, but they are also restless. When there is an abundance of mutable energy, there can be too many options. As a result, matters can quickly get out of hand. When there is an excess of mutable energy, there can be a lack of direction and it can be difficult to make firm commitments.

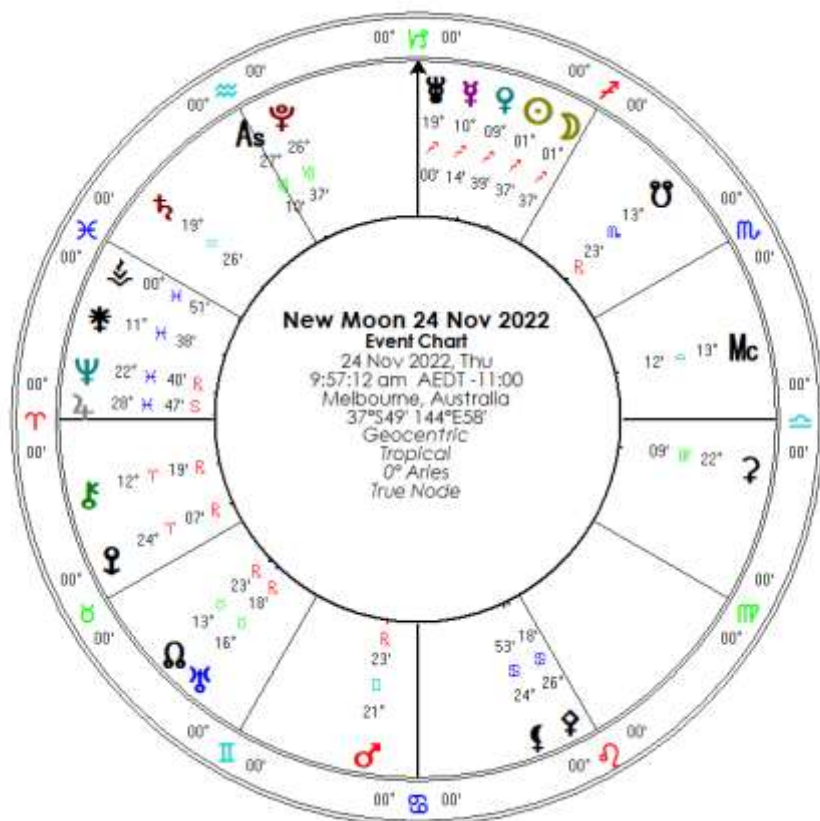

Much is in transition now and with Jupiter stationing direct there is an eagerness to move full steam ahead. The result can be a scattered and restless fervour that sweeps us up in its whirlwind.

With only a month until Christmas and the end of the year looming large, there is likely to be a mad rush to book holidays and arrange gatherings, but it's going to be difficult to plan with so much in flux.

For anyone with a lot of fixed energy, this is going to be stressful.

This Sagittarius New Moon ramps up the exuberance to fever pitch with Mercury, Venus and Hygiea close by, added to which Jupiter stations direct just five minutes after this New Moon!!

Jupiter and Sagittarius can be over the top. This is an incredibly overconfident New Moon when we'll be tempted to risk everything on one roll of the dice. There can be no

Vic state election

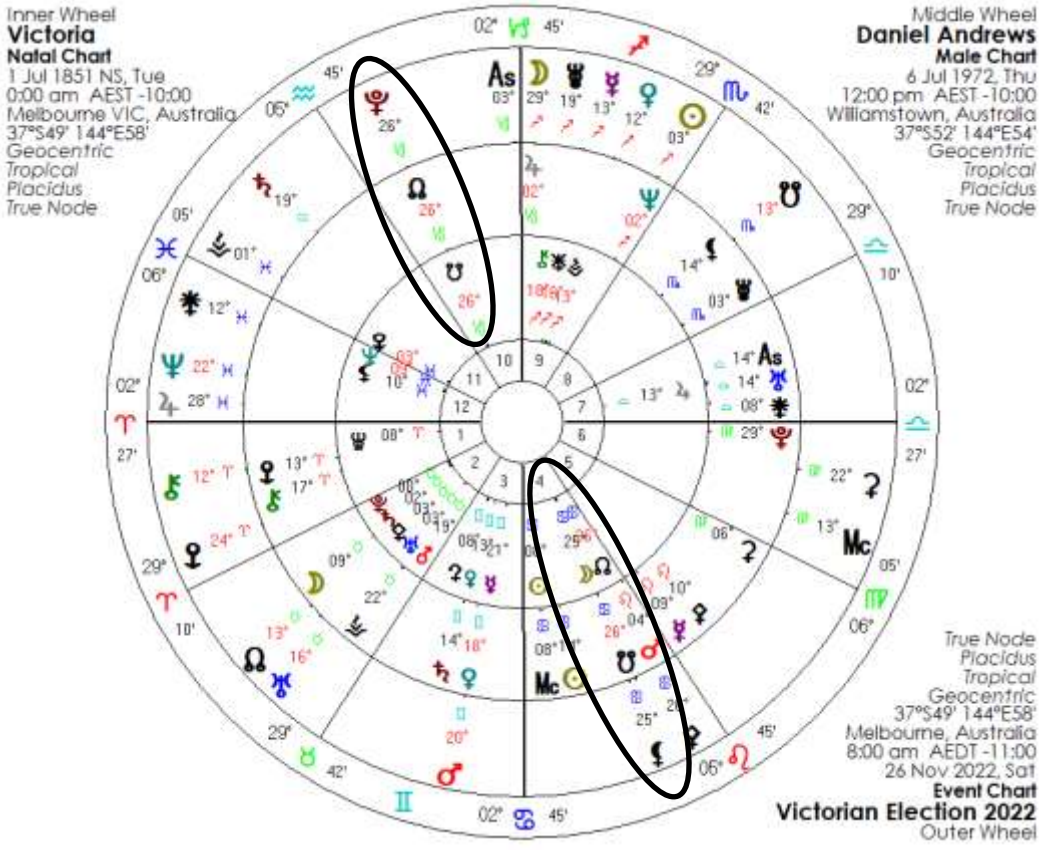

The Victorian state election is on 26 November. How will people be able to vote if they are displaced by floodwaters, or in the middle of a major clean-up? Logistics aside, will there will be a protest vote?

Dan Andrews has his North Node at 26 Capricorn. It's very fitting that the state of Victoria has its North Node at 26 Cancer. What's more, as we have seen, transiting Pluto is now at 26 Capricorn, having recently stationed at that degree during the recent flood crisis.

Pluto transits often deliver plumbing issues, water overflows, and associated sewerage issues, which often symbolise the need to purge, or let go.

That we have these degrees activated in Victoria's chart, and the Premier's chart by this Pluto transit, speaks volumes for the powerful influx of floodwater beyond anyone's control that has been sweeping through the state. What's more, the Moon in our state's chart is at 25 Cancer, so it too is receiving a Pluto pummelling, as water has inundated homes and undermining the feeling of security that we normally enjoy.

At the time of the election on the 26th, transiting Pallas Athena and the Black Moon are at 25-26 Cancer as well.

His Nodal Axis is highly connected with the state chart, making a conjunction with the collective need of the people for emotional security (Moon). The Premier's chart has the Sun at 14 Cancer squaring his Uranus at 14 Libra. In Victoria's chart Jupiter is at 13 Libra, in a positive, yet unpredictable configuration. There are countless other cross aspects here, like T Mars on Dan's Venus, but the Nodal/Pluto/Moon/Athena/Black Moon alignment, is clearly the most significant.

Transiting Pluto can dredge up all kinds of psychological crap, and has delivered a powerful blow to our state through the covid era and the recent flood crisis. Despite waning support, Daniel Andrews is still more popular than the opposition leader and is expected to win on Nov 26. But it's clear that he is under significant and unrelenting pressure.

The Sabian symbol for the 27th degree of Cancer (26 Cancer) is 'A furious storm rages through a residential canyon.' You could not get a more apt description of recent events.
