Cancer FULL MOON

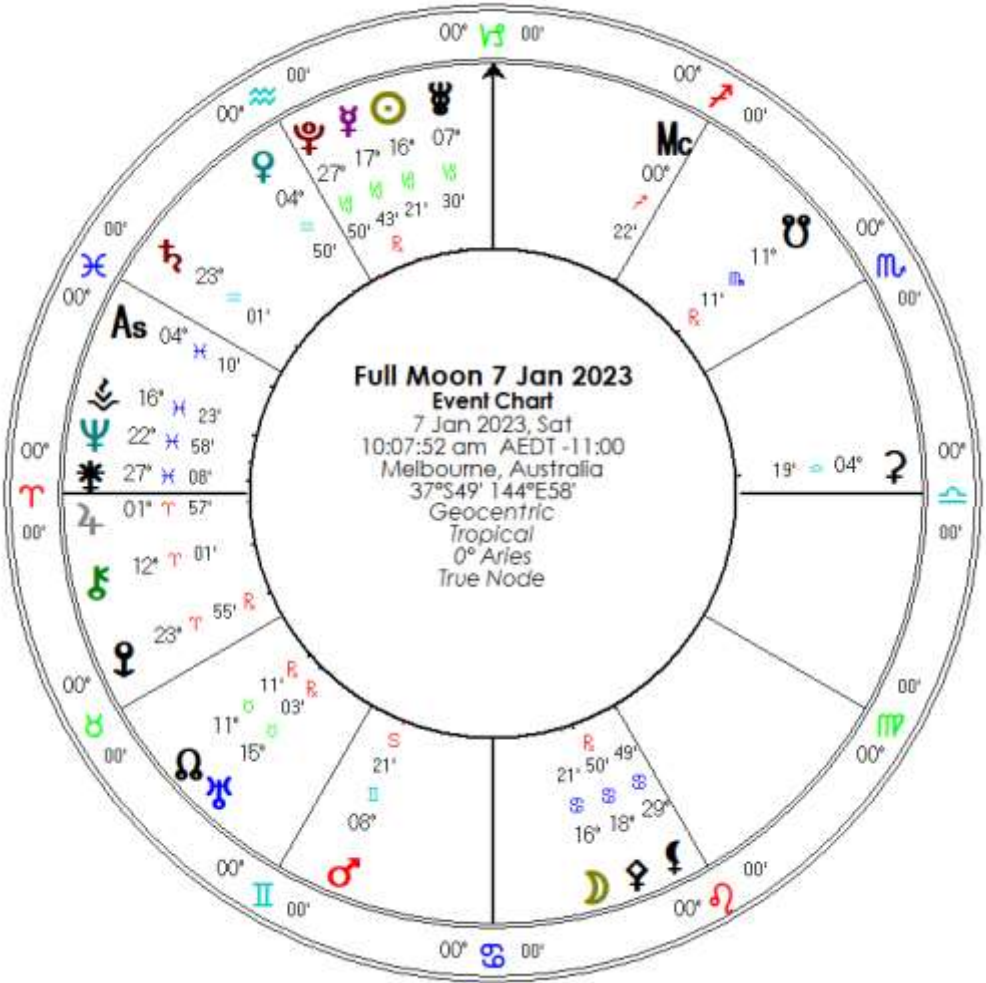

As Mercury closes in on its inferior conjunction in the midst of its retrograde period, this is a timely opportunity to rethink our plans for the coming year.

Mars has another week of retrograde motion, but is virtually stationary at this Full Moon. The time is soon coming when we will be faced with the question of how to implement our plans into the existing structure of our lives.

When Mars goes direct on Friday 13th, this is not an omen of doom and gloom. Rather it's a test of how and where to channel our energy and desires. Momentum is returning after the holiday season and we are probably keen to get started, even so, we may need to pace ourselves and we might have to create a new template before we can get going.

Mars in Gemini is intrinsically impatient. And while still moving slowly, his message is to consider how best to apply ourselves to the task ahead. The frustration that can accompany Mars retrograde is giving way to entrepreneurial opportunities for leadership. The question really is, how much effort are we willing to put into our desires? There is a long road ahead and we need to work out when to say yes and when to say no.

This Full Moon will help us work out our objectives for 2023 and how to go about attaining them.

CHARTS IN THE NEWS

Prime Minister

Anthony Albanese

So far things have been going along pretty well for the newly installed Labor Government and for the Australian Prime Minister, Anthony Albanese. But 2023 is shaping up to be a personally challenging year for our PM.

Transiting Pluto is making its presence felt as it engages with his Venus-South Node conjunction. This may dredge up unfinished business and past trauma concerning relationships and self esteem.

His second Saturn return has now concluded, however transiting Saturn will hit Mercury, so pushing through details will ensure the continuation of hard work into 2023.

Meanwhile, transiting Uranus is opposing his Neptune, throwing in a range of curve balls and uncertainties. The combination of Uranus and Neptune is a bit like an hallucinating trip, magnifying speculation and strange happenings that could take him off on a tangent at any time.

Transiting Neptune sits on his Jupiter, so there will be a tendency to take on too much. The workload is big, especially given the years of neglect of the previous government.

The main challenges this year would appear to be personal rather than political, with his Venus-South Node being triggered by transiting Pluto.

Overall, the current transits suggest his focus is good, both in terms of the big picture and in attending to details, however as we do not have a time of birth, there are several factors we cannot take into account. Using a 12 noon chart puts his Moon in Gemini, however an earlier birth time that puts the Moon in earthy Taurus seems more in keeping with his personality and manner of expression.

Aquarius new moon

This is an invisible Super-Moon that kick starts peace-loving. This is a hopeful sign, Chinese New Year. In the Chinese tradition, years end in odd numbers, like 2023, are yin years, while the even numbered years are yang. As 2023 is a yin year, it is more introspective and introverted than the Tiger year of 2022. This year is the year of the Water Rabbit.

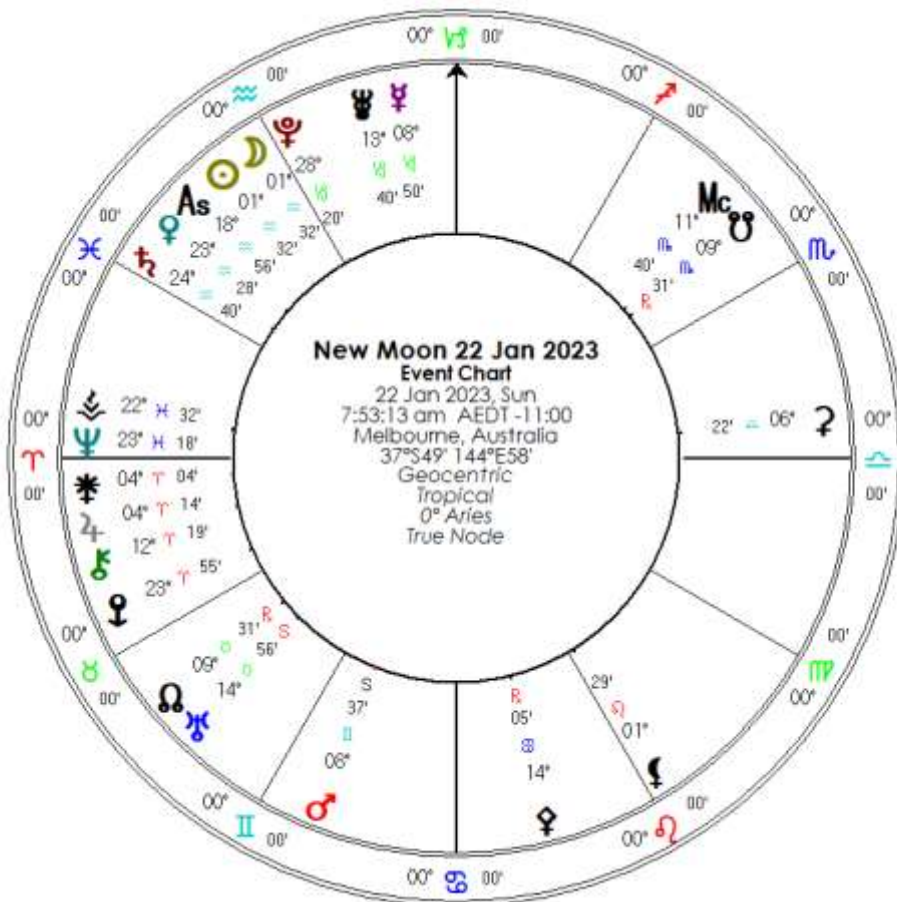

The Water Rabbit is clever and peace-loving. This is a hopeful sign, suggesting that we are entering a calmer, indeed fluffier, softer waters. That being said, there are a number of significant transits this year that are likely to deliver systemic change.

We'll explore the significance of this transition in the February edition of INsight. For those wanting to delve more deeply into the symbolism of Pluto in Aquarius, you can read my detailed article at Astro.com.

At this New Moon, Venus and Saturn are joined together in Aquarius, signalling their interest in forging ahead with a practical, but also a progressive agenda.

Plus the co-ruler of Aquarius, radical Uranus, is now stationing direct, highlighting the importance of future technology and innovation. This is a major wake up call which is about to ring loud and clear.

This book details my research into the 32-year cycle of Venus and Mars.

The symbolic connection between the celestial lovers is mirrored by their interaction as metals copper (Venus) and iron (Mars). This passionate exchange creates life on this planet and has immense impact across social settings and generations.

Stations this month

Back in January 2020 when fires were raging across Australia and the COVID-19 Pandemic was just emerging, there was a powerhouse stellium of Pluto, Saturn, Ceres, Mercury and the Sun. If that was not enough to contend with, Uranus, Hygiea and Eris were all stationing direct.

Three years on and this month Eris and Mars are stationing direct, so too are Uranus and Mercury.

Eris stations take place around the same time each year, currently in

Planet	D/R	Date	Time	Zone	Position
Eris	D	12-Jan-23	4:56:28 AM	AEDT	23°Ar55' D
Mars	D	13-Jan-23	7:56:19 AM	AEDT	08°Ge07' D
Mercury	D	19-Jan-23	12:11:53 AM	AEDT	08°Cp08' D
Uranus	D	23-Jan-23	9:58:11 AM	AEDT	14°Ta56' D

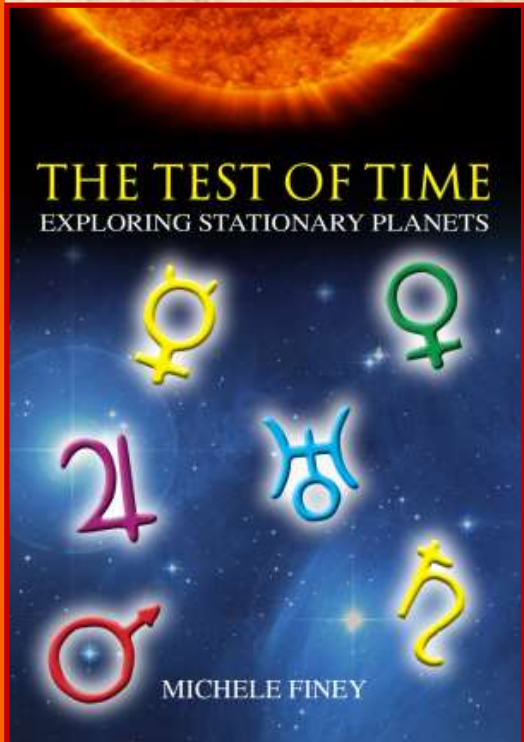

mid January and mid July. That this Eris station direct coincides with Mars station direct could signal some strife and aggression especially involving those with planets at these degrees.

A quick search of my database for charts with Mars at these degrees revealed that actor Meryl Streep has Mars at 8 Gemini and her North Node at 23 Aries, so she should be careful not to enter into dangerous situations this month. Rolling Stones guitarist Keith Richards has Mars at 8 Gemini conjunct his Uranus. Accidents are associated with this combination and T Mars stationing here could trigger an event.

Stations are potent points of activation and provide opportunities to harness their potential. With Eris and Mars stations happening at the same time, it is important to become more aware of any feelings of anger or resentment and find a way to use these feelings in a positive way, to become more conscious of them and enhance our personal development.

Later in the month Mercury and Uranus will both station direct too. This is a more positive and exciting combination which suggests a plethora of new ideas and technological advancement.

In my 2022 book, The Test of Time, you will find a comprehensive analysis of stationary planets including tips on how to manage stations when they happen, which can help raise consciousness.

As far as countries go, Syria has Mars at 23 Aries and Hygiea at 8 Gemini so there could be some uprising or violence in that region.
